Mercè Framis trained as a puppeteer at The Theatre Institute, in Barcelona. She earned a Bachelor's degree in Philosophy at Ramon Llull University, a Master's degree in Psychoanalysis (C.G. Jung) at the Autonomous University of Barcelona and a Master's degree in Art Therapy at University of Girona. She has a qualification as an art therapist from the Anthroposophic Therapeutic Arts Association (Dr. Hauschka, Waldorf pedagogy).

In 1992 she completed her training at The Theatre Institute and, together with Kerstin Von Porat, founded the company Framis Von Porat. Together they began their professional career with the creation of their own shows centred on shadow play puppetry: l'Oriollet, by Joan Amades, and El ruisenor del emperador, by Hans Christian Anderssen. They also worked on the construction of puppets and props for various productions, such as: Raticonte and Mama Por by Tantarantana Teatre; Tocats de l'Ala, by Teatre Mòbil, and Còrporeos, an ad for the TV shows Fruittis and Delphi, by D'Ocon Films.

In 1995, she joined the Els Aquilinos Teatre company. She took part in their shows Diari d'una confusió and Aquilino Maggi Circus. She collaborated in the creation of new shows for the company, such as The Happy Prince, by Oscar Wilde; Teatro de medianoche, by Kveta Pakovskà; and La Perla del Dragón, a production for the China-themed area in Port Aventura Park. Additionally, she began working on numerous stop motion videos for television programmes, notably Programa Basura, for Canal Plus, and an intro for Nikelodeon.

She has participated in numerous puppetry festivals, both nationally and internationally, and she has been awarded twice by the Mostra Internacional de Titelles a la Vall d'Albaida; 'Best Show' in 1993 for El ruienor del Emperador, by H.C. Anderssen, with the Framis Von Porat company, and 'Best Show' and 'Best Scenography and Presentation' for the 1997 show The Happy Prince, by Oscar Wilde, with Els Aquilinos Teatre company. She has also toured in numerous school theatre campaigns in Catalonia and throughout Spain.

In 2001 she began her solo career under the name Cía. Mercè Framis. Teatre d'Ombres, focusing her work on the Chinese style of shadow puppetry. Since then, she has always counted on the collaboration of other artists; puppet theatre professionals such as Olga Olveira, Esther Prim, Eudald Ferrer, Marga Carbonell and Núria Mestres. Musicians such as Joan Saura, Anna Subirana, Xavier Maristany, Manel Valls, Anna Amigó and Raül Poblet. Illustrators such as Marta Balaguer and Montse Ginesta and scriptwriters such as Mercè Maure and Jordi Teixidó.

She has done several works for television. For Una mà de contes, a children's story programme by Televisió de Catalunya, she produced five stories told through Chinese shadow puppetry. She also voiced Non, the main character in the children's series Què Non? by RTVLC. She is currently working as the puppeteer and voice actress of the character Mic in the children's series Mic, directed by Laia Gimo and Manel Trias, for TVC.

In her work as a teacher, she has taught shadow puppetry courses for:

Education professionals: Escola d'Expressió de Catalunya, training for kindergarten teachers at the Departament de Treball de la Generalitat de Catalunya, and permanent training for teachers at the Institut de Ciències de l'Educació.

Puppet theatre professionals: Festival de Títeres de Beniel, Marionetari in Valencia and Titerearte School, in Barcelona, among others.

Since its creation, Cía. Mercè Framis. Teatre d'Ombres has presented ten original shows, in addition to collaborating in other projects. In all of them, Mercè has been able to produce very personal work, with great care put into the aesthetics and presentation, based on an extensive study of the effects produced by light and shadow to achieve the desired results. In addition to the physical aspects of the plays, she gives great importance to the writing process and the music, which is composed especially for each show.

In the shows, special stages and behind the scenes set-ups have been devised to facilitate the complex manipulation of the silhouettes of the characters and props. With the help of her collaborators, she has dedicated time and effort to perfecting the systems and rehearsals in order to achieve a coherent and expressive whole, necessary to capture the attention and interest of the audience.
